COURSE DESCRIPTION

The design and implementation of Human Resource Management policies, practices and systems should be based on sound evidence and research. This course will provide students with the knowledge and tools they will need to not only assess and critique research but also evaluate human resource systems effectiveness. The course provides an introduction to conducting social science research within the human resources context. Three major elements of research methods are covered: (1) research designs (such as experimental, survey and qualitative), (2) the development and measurement of variables, and (3) the various approaches for evaluating research and human resource management effectiveness. These elements of research are presented within the context of seminal and current research topics.

COURSE ORGANIZATION AND FORMAT

This course is designed to foster an active learning environment and to encourage a culture of engagement. It will integrate formal asynchronous lectures (i.e. pre-recorded and posted videos) with weekly synchronous question and answer sessions (during scheduled class hours) and assignments designed to encourage practical application of the material. Participation and regular engagement are encouraged and expected. Class participation is important both to your learning and your professional development. As part of my commitment to interaction and engagement, I encourage questions and discussions at any time during class sessions or in the class discussion forum. In order to foster an environment of engagement, students are expected to come to class having already reviewed the assigned materials.

The entire course, including the submission of assignments, participation/discussion and test-taking, will take place on the course's Moodle. The scheduled class time will be used to meet and discuss questions (e.g. Question and Answer periods) that have arisen during the week and to engage in learning activities. Thus, this course will have live virtual meetings during scheduled times and days of the week, and during office hours. Attendance at these class sessions is not mandatory. Similar to an online course, you can learn the course material at your own pace, following the schedule of readings, videos, and activities.

I will make use of Moodle for class content and for posting all class announcements. You are responsible for regularly checking the site for important communications. The Course Director is not responsible for any communication that is not received.

I will be available by email and office hours to address any questions or concerns that you may not want to raise in class. When emailing the Course Director, please include in the subject line of the email the course number and section (e.g. HRM 4420A) and your full name.

Course and in-class time is time for practicing professional conduct, which includes treating all people with dignity and respect. Students should come to class with a focus on learning and with an understanding that this is why their peers are present. Let's treat each other with dignity and show each other respect by: (a) communicating in a courteous manner (b) muting electronic devices as appropriate, and (c) minimize disturbances (e.g. punctuality is important--arrive and leave on time), for example.

TECHNICAL REQUIREMENTS FOR TAKING THIS COURSE

Several platforms will be used in this course (e.g., Moodle, Zoom, etc.) through which students will interact with the course materials, the Course Director, as well as with one another. Please review this syllabus to determine how the class meets (in whole or in part), and how office hours and presentations will be conducted.

Students shall note the following:

- Zoom is hosted on servers in the U.S. This includes recordings done through Zoom.
- If you have privacy concerns about your data, provide only your first name when you join a session.
- The system is configured in a way that all participants are automatically notified when a session is being recorded. In other words, a session cannot be recorded without you knowing about it.

Please review the technology requirements and FAQs for Moodle.

With regard to the live video sessions students will not be required to join the session and appear on video. For class sessions that are live, appearing on video can aid in enhancing our engagement and connection as a group; however, appearing on video is not mandatory.

At a minimum, students will need a stable internet connection and a computer or similar device with a microphone.

EVALUATION

Task	Description	Weighting
Participation	Weekly Participation in discussion forum and/or weekly class sessions	15%
Research Proposal (Individual)	Draft (20%) Final proposal (20%)	40%
Quizzes	Quiz 1 (5%) Quiz 2 (5%)	10%
Final Exam	Cumulative exam	35%
Total		100%

Participation (15%)

Weekly participation can occur in a couple main ways: through the discussion forum and/or in the weekly class sessions. First, the purpose of the discussion forum is to provide a place where students can share learning experiences, reflect on content, ask questions (and provide answers) related to topics and issues covered, and discuss viewpoints related to course content. Second, the class session will be our weekly virtual meeting when we get together to share questions, reflections, and address issues raised in the discussion forums. While each session will tend to focus on the relevant course topics of the week, any questions will be welcome. Discussion in forums or class sessions will provide us an opportunity to connect with the material and each other while sharing and developing our knowledge together. Participation will be assessed for each week starting January 15, with weekly periods ending the day of class at 11:59pm, with the exception of the Reading Week where participation will not be required.

The guide for participation (which will include the assessment criteria) will be posted on the course Moodle page.

Research Proposal (40%)

Students will develop a research proposal based on an area of human resource management that they find of interest. The objective of this assignment is that students will develop a research proposal.

Two outputs will need to be submitted: a draft research proposal is due February 11, 2021, while the final research proposal is due on April 1, 2021 (submit to Moodle). Detailed guidelines for the proposal will be posted on the course website.

In summary, the research proposal will identify a research question; include a literature search to support the development of hypotheses and a theoretical framework; identify the research design that will be used to address the research question(s) and hypotheses (e.g. survey, experiment, qualitative methods, and/or meta-analysis); describe the methods, measures and analyses that could be used; and discuss some of the possible results that could be expected if the research were to be conducted (e.g. examples from the literature of similar studies could be referred to in this section); and the final section will be a discussion and conclusion that discuss the implications of the study for Human Resource practitioners.

The writing in the research proposals should be professional and formal. The style should be clear and concise--minimize the use of long sentences and excessive use of quoted material. It is a good practice to copy-edit your papers, this will minimize grammatical errors and spelling mistakes.

Your draft research proposal paper should be two pages double-spaced, in 12-point font with 1-inch margins, while the final research proposal paper should be between 1800 and 2000 words, double-spaced, in 12-point font with 1-inch margins (producing a paper between 7 and 8 pages in length). Please include a title page and list of references (not included in the word count). American Psychological Association (APA) formatting should be used for the paper, and references should be cited in APA style. All content that is not your own idea or information should be referenced appropriately. You must cite at least eight (8) references and include them in your list of references in your final proposal.

All written work will be marked on style, grammar, clarity, and organization, as well as content and analysis (i.e. the extent and quality of your research, analysis, and evaluation).

Exam (35%) and Quizzes (10%)

The exam and quizzes include materials covered in the course, such as the material covered in lectures, assigned readings, and any other material as indicated by the Course Director. The exam and quizzes may consist of a variety of questions such as multiple-choice, true/false, short-answer, mini-essay, and essay questions designed to test the student's ability to apply the course concepts.

In preparation for exams and quizzes, it is important that you review the required content to stay on top of the course material. It is your responsibility to keep up with the pace of this course. All exams and quizzes will be single attempt time-limited assessments. Supporting material or aids are permitted for exams and quizzes; specifically, you are permitted to use course resources (i.e. lecture slides, notes, and textbook). Question responses that use cut and paste content from course resources or any other source (such as the internet) will not be accepted.

Quizzes (10%): There will be two quizzes each worth 5%. Quiz 1 will be on January 28, 2021 covering chapters 1 to 2, and Quiz 2 will be on March 11, 2021 covering chapters 3 to 8. Further details will be posted in Moodle during the semester.

You must participate in the quizzes since there will be no other alternative dates to write a make-up. If you miss an assessment for a valid reason (as set-out in York policies), then the value of the assessment will be added to the value of your final exam, making your final exam worth the combined proportion. If you do not have a valid reason for missing an assessment, you will get a mark of zero on the assessment (i.e. quiz or exam). Thus, if you miss an assessment test for a valid reason then follow the current York policy to address the issue.

Final Examination (35%): The final exam will take place during the final examination period. The final exam will be time-limited and it is cumulative covering all course material. The date, time, and location will be announced closer to the exam date. More details will follow as the semester progresses. There will be no other alternative date to write the final exam.

Exceptions to the lateness penalty for valid reasons such as illness, compassionate grounds, etc., may be entertained but will require supporting documentation (e.g., a doctor’s letter or a valid Attending Physician Statement). A late penalty of 5% daily will be applied for each of the first four calendar days an assignment is late (for a total of 20%), and a 10% penalty will be applied daily for each of the remaining calendar days an assignment is late.

In so doing, students will allow their material to be included as source documents in the Turnitin.com reference database, where they will be used only for the purpose of detecting plagiarism. The terms that apply to the University's use of the Turnitin service are described on the Turnitin.com website.

POTENTIAL MODIFICATIONS TO THE COURSE

The Course Director and University reserve the right to modify elements of the course during the term. The University may change the dates and deadlines for any or all courses in extreme circumstances.
