Faculty of Liberal Arts & Professional Studies
The Sociology of Law
AP/PPAS 4070 6.0 Section A
Fall/Winter 2021-2022
Mon 11:30 am – 2:30 pm

Course Director: Dr. Nancy Sanders
Email: nsanders@yorku.ca

Technical requirements for taking the course:

Several platforms will be used in this course (e.g., Moodle, Zoom, etc.) through which students will interact with the course materials, the course director, as well as with one another. Please review this syllabus to determine how the class meets (in whole or in part), and how office hours and presentations will be conducted.

Students shall note the following:

- Zoom is hosted on servers in the U.S. This includes recordings done through Zoom.
- If you have privacy concerns about your data, provide only your first name or a nickname when you join a session.
- The system is configured in a way that all participants are automatically notified when a session is being recorded. In other words, a session cannot be recorded without you knowing about it.

Please review the technology requirements and FAQs for Moodle.

In order to fully participate in this course students are expected to participate through video conferencing. Students will appear on video for our seminar classes, breakout room meetings and presentations. In addition to a stable, higher-speed Internet connection, students will need a computer with a webcam and microphone and/or a smart device with these features.

Times and locations: Please note that this is a course that depends on remote teaching and learning. There will be no required in-person interactions or activities on campus.

Organization of the course: This course has both synchronous and asynchronous elements. As a seminar course, our synchronous meetings will allow for the presentation of course material and the discussion of readings, case studies and news items. All students are expected to attend the synchronous meeting times as per the schedule on indicated Mondays at 11:30am. Please note that these live Zoom classes are recorded and will be posted for reference on the course Moodle (eclass) site. Asynchronous elements will allow students to experience additional course material including videos, activities, and discussion forums more independently within the course timeframe.

Please refer to the course schedule on Moodle for details.

Virtual office hours: Please note that virtual office hours will be held from 10:15-11:15am on Mondays through Zoom, scheduled through Moodle. Additional individual or group meetings can be arranged as needed.

Additional contact or questions can be addressed through email: nsanders@yorku.ca.

Course description:

This seminar examines social institutions and ideologies of law. The foundations and practices of law are studied in reference to the influences of capitalism, liberalism, and modernity. Informed by classical and contemporary perspectives, this course examines the relationship between law and society.

This course explores the field of Sociology of Law including an examination of structures and processes that shape the development of law and the experience of law as a sociocultural product. Foundations of the field are studied through classical contributions including those of Max Weber, Emile Durkheim and Karl Marx as well as a pursuit of critical theories regarding social order, cohesion, conflict, and power relations. A consideration of socio-political context will inform our understanding of law within a capitalistic society and the meaning people give to their legal reality. This course aims to further critical understanding of our experience of law as both specialists and ordinary citizens, and how this influences our social values and behavior. To this end, in addition to theoretical study, students will be engaged in discussion of current news items, case studies and the consideration of the role of media in building conceptions and/or misconceptions of crime and justice.

Course objectives and learning outcomes:

- Students will gain an understanding of the theoretical foundations of the sociology of law and the dynamic of law in society.
- Students will develop or further develop analytic skills in examining law as both a legitimate authority as well as a social process.
- Students will demonstrate their ability to summarize and synthesize complex concepts and apply theoretical knowledge to case studies/examples.
- Students will critically evaluate relevant, current government or agency reports on key topics in the field.
- Students will evaluate the role of the media in building conceptions of law in society.

Required Text:

Treviño, A. Javier. The Sociology of Law: Classical and contemporary perspectives. Routledge: Taylor & Francis Group. London and New York, 2008

Optional Recommended Reading (not required)

Calavita, Kitty. Invitation to Law and Society: An introduction to the study of real law. 2nd Edition. The University of Chicago Press. 2016

In-class seminar material will draw on texts, journal readings, government reports, videos, and supplemental materials as outlined in detail in the class schedule.

Evaluation

Assessment	Due date	Value (% of final grade)
Class Attendance and Participation	Throughout	15%
Discussion Forum	Throughout	15%
First Term Culminating Assignment	Nov 29, 2021	20%
Group Assignment + Individual Reflection	Throughout Winter Term	20%
Final Paper	March 18, 2022 noon	30%

Details of Assignments will be shared in the Assignments document on Moodle. Rubrics will be provided. All essay papers are to be double spaced, Font size 12, page numbered, include a title page, as well as student name(s). Assignments must be submitted through moodle in pdf format. Please note as an advanced level course, expectations for scholarly writing are upheld; students are advised to have all written submissions thoroughly proofread.

Course Policies

Given this is a seminar class, all members are expected to demonstrate preparedness, attention to detail, engagement with the material and with each other.

Grading: The grading scheme for the course conforms to the 9-point grading system used in undergraduate programs at York (e.g., A+ = 9, A = 8, B+ = 7, C+ = 5, etc.). Assignments and tests* will bear either a letter grade designation or a corresponding number grade (e.g. A+ = 90 to 100, A = 80 to 90, B+ = 75 to 79, etc.) (For a full description of York grading system see the York University Undergraduate Calendar – <http://calendars.registrar.yorku.ca/2010-2011/academic/index.htm>)

Assignment Submission: Proper academic performance depends on students doing their work not only well, but on time. Accordingly, assignments for this course are due on the class dates noted. To allow for accommodations and individual circumstances discussed with the Course Director a grace period of 48 hours is allocated with no grade penalty. Assignments are to be handed in through Moodle (Assignments or Turnitin). Students are required to save all work and may be asked to resubmit if any difficulties in submission arise. Please submit pdf files only.

Lateness Penalty: Assignments received later than the due date (+ 48 hour grace period as discussed and approved by the Course Director), will be penalized one half letter grade per day. Exceptions to the lateness penalty for valid reasons such as illness, compassionate grounds, etc., may be entertained by the Course Instructor but will require supporting documentation (e.g., a doctor's letter).

Turnitin

To promote academic integrity in this course, students will be normally required to submit their written assignments to Turnitin (via the course Moodle) for a review of textual similarity and the detection of possible plagiarism. In so doing, students will allow their material to be included as source documents in the Turnitin.com reference database, where they will be used only for the purpose of detecting plagiarism. The terms that apply to the University's use of the Turnitin service are described on the Turnitin.com website.

Academic honesty and integrity

In this course, we strive to maintain academic integrity to the highest extent possible. Please familiarize yourself with the meaning of academic integrity by completing SPARK's Academic Integrity module at the beginning of the course. Breaches of academic integrity range from cheating to plagiarism (i.e., the improper crediting of another's work, the representation of another's ideas as your own, etc.). All instances of academic dishonesty in this course will be reported to the appropriate university authorities, and can be punishable according to the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty.

The Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies at York University supports the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty. “Academic honesty requires that persons do not falsely claim credit for the ideas, writing or other intellectual property of others, either by presenting such works as their own or through impersonation. Similarly, academic honesty requires that persons do not cheat (attempt to gain an improper advantage in an academic evaluation), nor attempt or actually alter, suppress, falsify or fabricate any research data or results, official academic record, application or document. Finally, academic honesty requires that persons do not aid or abet others to commit an offence of academic dishonesty, including intentional acts to disrupt academic activities.”

How can you demonstrate academic integrity in the completion of your course?

- Respect the ideas of others: Your course work should represent your own knowledge and ideas. You should not falsely claim credit for ideas that are not your own, by presenting another's work as yours. If you are quoting, paraphrasing, or summarizing another person's work in order to support your own ideas, identify the work and the author through proper citation practices. For more information about how to cite properly, use the Student Papers and Academic Research Kit (SPARK). You can improve your writing, research, and personal learning abilities through the Learning Commons.
- Respect your peers: Know when you are allowed to collaborate. Ask your instructor about what group work entails when it comes to the sharing of work. In test situations and assignments, don't steal or give answers to your peers. Cheating and aiding in a breach of academic honesty are both against York University's academic honesty policy.
- Respect your course instructor(s): Understand what the instructors are asking of you in class, in assignments, and in exams. If you are unsure, ask your professor or teaching assistant. They are committed to making you feel supported, and want to assess you fairly and with integrity. Please do not submit the same piece of work for more than one course without your instructor's permission.

- Respect yourself: When you act with integrity, you know that your work is yours and yours alone. You do not allow others to impersonate you on tests and exams. You do not buy or otherwise obtain term papers or assignments. You do the work. As a result, you know that you earned the grades that you receive, so you can be proud of your York degree. By acting with integrity in your course work, you are also practicing a valuable professional skill that is important in all workplaces.
- Take responsibility: If you have acted in an academically dishonest way, you can demonstrate courage and take responsibility for your mistake. You can admit your mistake to your course instructor as soon as possible.

Students who engage in academic dishonesty can be subject to disciplinary action under the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty. Your lack of familiarity with the Senate Policy and Guidelines on Academic Honesty does not constitute a defense against their application. Some academic offences can also constitute offences under the Criminal Code of Canada, which means that you may also be subject to criminal charges.

Additional Information

All students are expected to familiarize themselves with the following information, available on the Senate Committee on Academic Standards, Curriculum & Pedagogy webpage (see Reports, Initiatives, Documents) -

<https://secretariat.info.yorku.ca/files/CourseInformationForStudentsAugust2012-.pdf>

- Senate Policy on Academic Honesty and the Academic Integrity Website
- Ethics Review Process for research involving human participants
- Course requirement accommodation for students with disabilities, including physical, medical, systemic, learning and psychiatric disabilities
- Student Conduct Standards
- Religious Observance Accommodation

Accessibility

While all students are expected to satisfy the requirements of their program of study and to aspire to achieve excellence, the university recognizes that persons with disabilities may require reasonable accommodation to enable them to perform at their best. For more information about this policy, please refer to these guidelines and procedures: Academic Accommodation for Students with Disabilities.

The university encourages students with disabilities to register with Student Accessibility Services to discuss their accommodation needs as early as possible in the term. An Accessibility Counsellor will help you establish recommended academic accommodations, which will then need to be communicated to your course instructor(s) as necessary. Please let the Course Instructor know as early as possible in the term if you require academic accommodation so that your accommodation needs can be discussed and considered within the context of this course.

Intellectual Property Notice

All materials prepared for this course are the intellectual property of the Course Director unless otherwise stated. This can include but is not limited to the following material: lecture notes, handouts and recordings; assignment handouts and instructions; spoken and written presentations; audio and video recordings; PowerPoint slides; and questions and/or solution sets for assignments, quizzes, tests and final exams.

Course materials should only be used by students enrolled in this course. As a student in this course, you may not publish, post on an Internet site, sell, or otherwise distribute any of this work without the instructor's express permission. Unauthorized or commercial use of these materials is strictly prohibited. Third party copyrighted materials (such as book chapters, journal articles, music, videos, etc.) have either been licensed for use in this course or fall under an exception or limitation in Canadian copyright law. Copying this material for distribution (e.g. uploading material to a commercial third-party website, or online sharing of course material with people outside of the course) may lead to a charge of misconduct under York's Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities and the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty. In addition, you may face legal consequences for any violation of copyright law.

Please note any audio-visual recordings or live sessions on Moodle are used for your educational purposes only. Students do not have permission to duplicate, copy and/or distribute the recordings outside of class. All recordings will be destroyed at the end of the entire course session.

Policies related to Zoom Meetings

This course involves the use of Zoom, an online videoconferencing software. Please Note that Zoom is hosted on servers in the U.S. Zoom meeting content (e.g. video, audio and text chat) has been restricted to only pass through servers in Canada and US data centres; it will not pass through international data centres, such as those in China. Although it is not possible to exclude the US data centres at this time, Zoom is developing this functionality and will implement it as soon as possible. All audio, video, screen-sharing and text content will be encrypted in transit between your device and Zoom's servers, which will prevent unauthorized third parties from intercepting the content of your Zoom meeting. For more information, please visit Zoom at YorkU.

Privacy

At the moment, the name you use with Zoom and metadata about how you use the application will be stored on servers outside of Canada. If you have privacy concerns, you can disable both audio and video. You can also provide only your first name or a nickname when you join a session. If you choose to rename yourself, please let your instructor or TA know immediately.

You can rename yourself in 4 easy steps.

1. After entering the Zoom meeting, click on the Participants icon at the bottom of the window.
2. Find your name in the Participants list on the right side of the Zoom window
3. Hover over your name and click the Rename button.
4. Enter the name that you would like to use in the Zoom meeting, and click OK.

Please note that lectures and/or tutorial sessions may be recorded so that they can be made available to students who are not able to attend class. Zoom is configured in such a way that all participants will be automatically notified when a session is being recorded. In other words, a session cannot be recorded without you knowing about it. If you do not wish to be seen or heard during a recorded session, please keep your camera and/or microphone turned off.

Participation

Your course instructor may enable you to ask questions through the chat panel. Inappropriate or disrespectful language in the chat panel will not be tolerated.

Please note that students are to “sign in” at the beginning of each class through the chat panel as well. If this is an issue for you, please discuss with the professor.

You may also participate through Zoom’s nonverbal feedback features. These features can be accessed by clicking on the Participants icon at the bottom of the window. Once the Participants sidebar is opened, you will see the option to Raise Hand. By clicking on Raise Hand, a blue hand will be raised. Please click on the Raise Hand button again to lower your hand once your question has been answered. You are tasked with using the various Zoom features in a responsible manner. Your course instructor and/or TA will reserve the right to remove anyone who does not behave accordingly.

Student Conduct

Students, course instructors and staff have a joint responsibility to create and maintain a welcoming and inclusive learning environment. All students are expected to conduct themselves in accordance with the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities.

Whether online or in-person, students and course instructors are expected to cultivate and sustain a professional relationship characterized by mutual respect and courtesy. In all classrooms, any disruptive and/or harassing behaviour will not be tolerated. To ensure that you adhere to the rules of the virtual classroom, please review what counts as proper ‘netiquette’ (the basic rules for communicating with others in online spaces) by consulting the student guide to e-learning. If you experience an inappropriate online incident that makes you feel unsafe or uncomfortable, please contact your course instructor immediately.

Please respect the privacy of your peers and instructors. Never share private information about your peers and instructors without their permission. Remember, no aspect of your courses should be recorded or distributed without everyone's consent.

Schedule of readings and activities

Please note the following important dates for Fall/Winter 2021-22:
