Land Acknowledgment

York University recognizes that many Indigenous Nations have longstanding relationships with the territories upon which York University campuses are located that precede the establishment of York University. York University acknowledges its presence on the traditional territory of many Indigenous Nations. The area known as Tkaronto has been care taken by the Anishinabek Nation, the Haudenosaunee Confederacy, and the Huron-Wendat. It is now home to many First Nation, Inuit, and Métis communities. We acknowledge the current treaty holders, the Mississaugas of the Credit First Nation. This territory is subject of the Dish with One Spoon Wampum Belt Covenant, an agreement to peaceably share and care for the Great Lakes region (LA&PS Land Acknowledgement).

Course Overview

This course provides an introduction to the fascinating field of real estate.

Most students can answer the question:

Question: "What is the most expensive thing you will ever buy?"

Answer: "My first home."

By the end of this course, students will be able to understand:

- The key decisions to make in a home/condominium purchase
- Key elements in real estate finance
- Key elements in real estate valuation
- Key elements in real estate development

Course Format and Organization

Course Focus

This course will introduce students to the following aspects of real estate:

- Real Estate: What is it?; Buying a Home; How Cities Grow; Commercial Real Estate,
- Real Estate Law
- Real Estate Marketing, Brokerage and Management
- Real Estate Valuation
- Real Estate Finance
- Real Estate Taxation
- Real Estate Investment
- Real Estate: The Role of Government
- Real Estate Development

Case Studies

The lectures have case studies which will assist the student in understanding the practical aspects of each of the above topics. Each student will be part of groups whose focus will be on discussing the case studies. A portion of the marks are awarded for case study participation.

Discussion Cases

Some of the case studies are discussion case studies where the student gets to explore different real estate issues or problems and points of view. Each case has key questions and the groups submit their answers online and these are shared with the class.

Problem Cases

Some of the case studies are problem case studies. They illustrate the types of analysis required to understand real estate. If you can add, subtract multiply and divide you will have no trouble solving the cases. This activity is also conducted within groups.

Tests and Exams

- Mid Term
- Final
- Open book and On-Line

Term Paper

Any topic on real estate subject to an approved Term Paper Proposal.

Summer 2024 Topic: The Affect of the Pandemic on Real Estate and the Aftermath.

Real Estate News

Because the real estate market is so dynamic, no textbook can keep up. Each week we will have news updates provided by the groups on a rotating basis and shared with the class.

COURSE FORMAT

Each lecture covers a distinct segment of the real estate universe. The lectures are organized into key components so that each topic is developed in the context of the course as a whole.

In addition, each lecture has case studies, where real estate issues may be discussed and specific real estate problems solved. The use of cases as a learning tool is reinforced by having Group members work together on possible solutions and outcomes. The results of the discussions are shared with the class as a whole

- The course is in person course format
- Class is divided into Groups to facilitate learning, discussion and collaborative problem solving
- Outlines of requirement for term papers will be available in eClass.
- Group submissions are to be submitted to the TA through email.
- The submission are shared with the class as a whole

Technical Requirements

Mid-Term and Final Examination will be online and open-book in eClass.

Students should have stable, high-speed Internet connection

Here are some useful links for student computing information, resources, and help:

- Student Guide to eClass
- Student Guide to eLearning at York University

To determine Internet connection and speed, there are online tests, such as Speedtest, that can be run. If you need technical assistance, please consult the University Information Technology \(UIT\) Student Services web page. For more specific assistance, please write to askit@yorku.ca.

Course Communication Plan and Office Hours

- Outside the Classroom communication with the Course Director and TA will be via email
- Course announcements will be both via eClass and at the beginning of In-Person Classes
- Students can ask questions about the course and course materials
 - At the beginning, during or after of in-person lectures

Course Expectations

- The course kit parallels the powerpoint materials for this course.
- The student will find that the most effective note-taking in the course is to utilize a yellow highlighter along with the course kit.
- The student should read each case study prior to the class to facilitate the discussions within their Group and to best answer the questions that accompany each case study

Course Policies

All students are expected to familiarize themselves with the following information:

- Student Rights & Responsibilities
- Academic Accommodation for Students with Disabilities

Please also review the following course policies:

Academic Integrity

In this course, we strive to maintain academic honesty to the highest extent possible. Please familiarize yourself with the meaning of academic integrity by completing SPARK's Academic Integrity module at the beginning of the course. Breaches of academic honesty range from cheating to plagiarism (i.e., the improper crediting of another's work, the representation of another's ideas as your own, etc.). All instances of academic dishonesty in this course will be reported to the appropriate University authorities and can be punishable according to the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty.

Accessibility

While all individuals are expected to satisfy the requirements of their program of study and to aspire to achieve excellence, the University recognizes that persons with disabilities may require reasonable accommodation to enable them to perform at their best. The University encourages students with disabilities to register with Student Accessibility Services to discuss their accommodation needs as early as possible in the term to establish the recommended academic accommodations that will be communicated to Course Directors through their Letter of Accommodation (LOA).

Please let your instructor know as early as possible in the term if you anticipate requiring academic accommodation so that we can discuss how to consider your accommodation needs within the context of this course. Sufficient notice is needed so that reasonable steps for accommodation can be discussed. Accommodations for tests/exams normally require three (3) weeks (or 21 days) before the scheduled test/exam to arrange.

Religious Observance Accommodation

York University is committed to respecting the religious beliefs and practices of all members of the community, and making reasonable and appropriate accommodations to adherents for observances of special significance. Should any of the dates specified in this syllabus for course examinations, tests, or deadlines conflict with a date of religious significance, please contact the instructor within the first three (3) weeks of class. If the date falls within the formal examination periods, you must complete and submit a Religious Accommodation for Examination Form at least three (3) weeks before the start of the exam period.

Intellectual Property

Course materials are designed for use as part of this particular course at York University and are the intellectual property of the instructor unless otherwise stated. Third-party copyrighted materials (such as book chapters, journal articles, music, videos, etc.) have either been licensed for use in this course or fall under an exception or limitation in Canadian copyright law. Students may not publish, post on an Internet site, sell, or otherwise distribute any course materials or work without the instructor's express permission. Course materials should only be used by students enrolled in this course.

Copying this material for distribution (e.g., uploading material to a commercial third-party website) may lead to a charge of misconduct according to York's Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities, the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty, and/or legal consequences for copyright violations.

Student Conduct in the Learning Environment

York University is committed to fostering teaching and learning environments that are free of disruptive and/or harassing behaviour, are physically safe, and conducive to effective teaching and learning. Students and instructors are expected to maintain a professional relationship characterized by courtesy, civility, and mutual respect and to refrain from actions disruptive to such a relationship. Individuals who fail to adhere to such standards and who violate University or public law may be subject to disciplinary action by the University.

For more information, see the policies on Disruptive and/or Harassing Behaviour in Academic Situations, the Student Conduct and Responsibilities, and the Code of Student Rights & Responsibilities.

Health and Safety

All York students and instructors share responsibility for the safety and well-being of the community while on York's campuses. Please continue to check YUBetter Together for the latest information on health and safety.

Student Support and Resources

For a full list of academic, wellness, and campus resources visit Student Support & Resources.

Artificial Intelligence (AI) Apps

According to York's Senate Policy on Academic Honesty, using AI apps such as ChatGPT, GPT-3, DALL-E, among others to complete academic work without your instructor's knowledge or permission, is considered to be a breach of academic honesty. More specifically, using text-generating tools (such as ChatGPT) would be considered to be cheating (Senate Policy, section 2.1.1) and using image-generating tools (such as DALL-E) would be considered to be plagiarism (Senate Policy, section 2.1.3).

You may find that certain instructors will allow the use of these tools for certain assessments, yet others will not allow their use. If you're not sure whether using an AI app for your academic work is acceptable, it is recommended that you:

- Carefully review the guidelines for your assessments
- Check for any messages from your instructor on eClass
- Ask your instructor or TA if they are permitting the use of these tools

Additionally, you are encouraged to keep all of your research notes and draft versions of your work. You may be asked to present these if it is suspected that an AI app was used to help complete your work. These drafts can be used to show how this work developed, and to provide evidence that the work is your own.

3810 Course Policy

- Students are not permitted to use generative artificial intelligence (AI) in this course. Submitting any work created through the use of generative AI tools will be considered a violation of York University's Senate Policy on Academic Honesty.
- If you do not know whether an online resource or tool can be used in this course, please contact your instructor for guidance.
- For more information, please review AI Technology & Academic Integrity: Information for Students.
- If you use any tool to assist in your research, you must acknowledge the source of your information including AI.
- You should not use an AI tool to answer a case study question, mid-term test, final examination or to write a term paper.
